I would like to express my sincere appreciation to Francesco Greggio e Gino Reolon for their ongoing support to my students and for having enthusiastically welcomed this project.

I would like to express my sincere thanks also to all those who have assisted me and offered their support throughout the period of writing this book, in particular Alfredo Scarfò, for his help in data collection and advices, and Elena Bruno, colleague and friend, for her active support. I am extremely grateful to the companies and my students for the interviews.

A particular heartfelt gratitude goes to Maurizio and to my precious jewels, Lisa and Laura, that have endured my several moments of dismay. I would like to express my sincere thanks to my sister, Silvia, without whose full encouragement and real support this book would never have been undertaken. Also, I want to thank my mom and my father's spirit to their unconditioned trust.

Finally, I wish to thank the anonymous referees for constructive suggestions to the book.
